

Hi Indivizzies,

There is no sugar-coating it: President Biden had a very bad debate performance, and it has raised a significant conversation about how the party should move forward. What does that mean for us?

Our organization was founded in early 2017 for the purpose of fighting the Trump agenda and defending our democracy. Nothing has changed — except the stakes are ever higher.

Our mandate is more urgent than ever, because now we've seen their Project 2025, a 1,000-page Republican manifesto for authoritarianism.

If for no other reason than this, we need to double down on efforts to get out the vote. There's more, however: The Presidency, the Senate and the House are all up for grabs in what will likely be the closest election in our nation's history. There are voters thinking about sitting this election out. We can't let that happen.

As long as Trump and his MAGA minions threaten our democracy, we will continue to do what we've always done. We will take action in support of what matters to us:

reproductive freedom, our environment, common-sense gun laws, marriage equality, campaign finance reform, free and fair elections, immigration.

Now is when we knock on doors and phonebank and text and protest and march and donate money and use our voices and our power to fight for what matters.

Long after the pundits have found new topics to spin and the political consultants have had their say about what should happen at the top of the ticket, we Indivizzies will still be fighting for our democracy with every tool at our disposal.

So here at ILNH, we will continue working to get Democrats elected up and down the ticket, because they fight for what we care about. Click here to find ways you can take action.

It is said that hope is a practice, and indeed, we should continue to be hopeful. But hope alone won't save our democracy. Action is what's needed and we need YOU in this fight.

Yours in solidarity,
The ILNH Leadership Team
