Lambertville, NJ - Saturday, June 14, 2025 - More than 1200 activists assembled on Ely Field in Lambertville, N.J. to declare “No Kings” with 800 square-feet of hand-painted posters surrounded by 900 U.S. flags. The event was part of a mass, nationwide, peaceful protest rejecting authoritarianism, billionaire-first politics, and the militarization of our democracy.

“Since the Trump administration took over in January, the level of authoritarianism, overreach and corruption has threatened people’s lives and livelihood, the US economy and our country’s standing in the world,” said Cindi Sternfeld, founder, Indivisible Lambertville/New Hope. “All of us here today - in Lambertville, and across the U.S. and the globe - stand for democracy, for the people, and for the values on which our nation was founded.

The “No Kings” mobilization is a direct response to President Trump’s self-aggrandizing $45 million birthday celebration, an event funded by taxpayers, while millions are told there’s no money for Social Security, SNAP, Medicaid, or public schools. This mobilization is bigger than political disagreement. The administration has defied courts, pardoned criminals, deported and sent troops against American citizens, disappeared people off the streets, and slashed services.

“We are in the millions - people of different genders, races, abilities and identities - coming together in communities across the country to reject strongman politics and corruption,” said Elycia Lerman, president, Indivisible Lambertville/New Hope. “Trump and his ilk may not like it, but this is what democracy really looks like.”
